2013 SWDAAHPERD Convention

"It Takes a Village to Move a Child in School"

> Red Rock Casino, Resort & Spa Las Vegas, Nevada

June 26 - 29, 2013

"I know you want us to study, but we need to move too. When we sit too much, we can't concentrate. Sitting all the time is boring and makes us not want to go to school."

Does this concern you?

Children in U.S. schools have never been more sedentary. Meanwhile, nearly one-third are overweight or obese, and rates among Black and Hispanic children, as well as those living in lower-income households, are even higher.

It is time for physical and health educators, recreation, dance and sports professionals, school administrators, school board members, public health professionals and agencies, local and state policy makers, chronic disease organizations, physicians, parents, and researchers to come together as stakeholders in children's health to discuss ideas on how we can overcome barriers to children's physical activity during the school day.
